HBO Max presents the trailer for “Viajeros: perdidos en el tiempo”, a story of imagination and adventure arrives to platform august 5th

This production from Particular Crowd together with Elefantec and MarVista, for HBO Max, will make us believe that imagination can bring back everything we’ve lost

MIAMI. FL. – July 14, 2022.- Today, HBO Max released the trailer for VIAJEROS: PERDIDOS EN EL TIEMPO, a production from Particular Crowd together with Elefantec and MarVista for HBO Max that will soon be available on the platform. This film tells the story of Leo, a boy with a great imagination who creates a homemade time machine to go in search of his father and best friend because he believes him to be trapped in the past.Leo's great ingenuity and imagination lead him to face a lot of adventures in this "journey" in which he will coincidentally run into the new boy in the neighborhood, Bobby, who shares several mannerisms with his father, which makes him believe that he has successfully traveled to the past and found him; and it’ll make him think that they both have been lost in time.Sometimes a child's imagination goes beyond what an adult can understand, but it can help them find a better way to cope with the loss of a loved one.VIAJEROS: PERDIDOS EN EL TIEMPO is a fantasy story that takes us through other times and shows us the strength and value of friendship. This Mexican film stars Fernanda Castillo (El Señor de los Cielos), Alex de la Madrid (José José: El Príncipe de la Canción, Monarca), Juan Pablo Monterrubio (Como Caído del Cielo), Patricio Alvarado Loza, Damayanti Quintanar (La Muchacha que Limpia) and Fabrizio Santini (Bankrolled), among others.

